"Honestly, there is very little I can do. Should I change the government that you voted for? No, I cannot do that as I would override your freedom of choice. Should I put all prisoners on death-row? That would not go over very well. Can't you see that I have to let you make your own decisions, because I made you in my image, you are my selfie. And I gave you the freedom of choice, that's your prerogative."

Yeah, but you see where that is getting us.

"Would you have preferred to be a robot or zombie without a free will dancing like a marionette on a string with me being the master puppeteer. Would that have made you happy. You'd have no emotions of love or joy."

Okay, but I would not have the pain of seeing people killing each other and seeing the incredible violence and corruption around me.

"Let's stop here for a minute. What you're saying is that people need a change of heart or character?"

Yes, that's it, stop killing and screwing each other.

"Okay, how could we do that? You feel that pain, but I feel that same pain amplified many times over because I created the human race."

So, can you not give us all a heart that operates like a human should, with dignity?

"I cannot just do that because there are rules to the game, which I cannot overstep. Okay now that you insist, what if I came to earth and would help people and heal their sicknesses or their anxiety and mental illnesses. Would that be something?"

Yeah, I think that's a step in the right direction, then you can experience the mess we live in first hand and you might be able to do something or change people's hearts, because honestly, I'm fed up. I watch the news and it turns my stomach.

"What do you think it does to me? Listen I cannot change everyone's heart because not everyone wants to change, but I can change the hearts of those who want to change, who want the truth and are fed up with the lies and the political promises. Would that be something?"

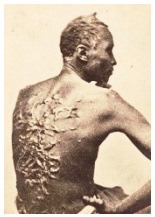
That would at least be a start.

"But listen I cannot override people choices; you have to grasp that. I'll go through the whole ordeal that humans go through from birth to death."

Yes, I think you should; then you'd know what is going on down here. But you cannot be shielded in a palace, I want you to understand all of humanity; you should experience hunger, human emotions of love, compassion, pain, anger, what it is like to be a servant and wash my feet. If you are that powerful, you should know what it is to flee as a child by night with your parents to escape from insane slaughter, you should be homeless, but should also feel the betrayal of your finance man. Let me show you a photo of 1863 of a black slave who was beaten mercilessly. I want you to be thrown in at the deep end and experience every last bit that people go through, from joy to pain of the whip, from dance to death by crucifixion, just as Romans crucified 6000 slaves along the Appian Way in 71 BC, as those slaves rose up against their rule.



"Let me explain, I can't do that as I'm the Matrix of all matter, the Cosmic Energy that holds all mass together as I showed Einstein; I am the E of $E=mc^2$. So, if I would come to earth then when I get killed everything will fall apart and all mass will vanish or disintegrate. Okay let's turn the tables for a second. Say, you run a considerable business and a factory and you cannot be spared otherwise the work will fall apart and some 3000 employees will not have food on their table, but you have a son and he really is a good kid and you love him to pieces, would you send him on a mission that you just described?"

No boss, not my son. I would prefer to go myself because seeing my son go through what I just said, would rip my heart out.

"What do you think if I would ask my Son if he'd want to go through what you just told me?"

I would think that you'd be crazy. Who would do something like that in or out of this world?

"No, I am serious you threw out the challenge to me and I will ask him if he is willing, even if it will rip my heart out. Honestly, like you told me I need to understand what people go through. Give me a little time with him to discuss your challenge."

No forget it, I don't want anyone to go through with this, not even you and I retract my challenge.

"Sorry up here we take words seriously, they are real things and once spoken they set things into motion; although you can apologize it is hard to undo and stop what you've just activated."

Can I please withdraw what I said? Why do I always stick my foot in my mouth?

"Excuse me, my Son is calling. Sorry, got to go."

"Okay, I am back; my Son agreed as he had been thinking the same thing. I explained what you said and he wants to learn what people go though. I told him that if he would, then I'd hand all my authority concerning sickness, life, death, judgement, heaven and angels, hell and devils, etc., over to him. As he'll be human, he can judge people better than me. He'll be able to portray who I really am."

I really didn't think you or your Son would take up the challenge, but please spare him the pain part.

"Sorry it is part of the package as you so clearly expressed. We need to know what it feels like for every last person on the earth. Your challenge was right, because how could we as creators not feel what the created ones go though in their circumstances."

A later discussion:

Okay your Son came; he was not what I expected him to be. I didn't think him to be so radical, he busted every religious boundary. Yet I think that he could have done with some Public Relation advice.

"One disciple thought that too and arranged a meeting with the top religious brass, who had studied psychology and theology. He was my Son's finance man and he had hoped that they could talk some sense into him, as three times there was a lot of money 'wasted' with that perfume business. Well, it turned out different; my Son got crucified just like you wanted, and that disciple hanged himself.

Yet like him, people feel free to criticise what they don't understand or can't fit into their limited boxes.
Seeing I don't fit into boxes; I get a lot of criticism.

But if people studied my word, they'd realize that Jesus was my personification, and that my written word is a legally binding document that, like any will or notarized testament will hold up in a court of law.

Yet, the high brows who know it all are happy to find fault with what I moved people to write in my word. Now if any of these gentlemen can create a blade of grass with procreative life, then I would say, 'Pls do believe them - until then pray that they may see!'

You see life is created in my eighth dimension as that is where my labs are, where I planned and am still planning new things, which eye hasn't yet seen."

You say 8th dimension. How come eight?

"There are dimensions ad infinitum, but I'll keep it simple so you can somewhat relate. You live within the 4-dimensional parameters of; time, length, width and height. Then the angels and demons operate in the next or 5th dimension trying to influence mankind, as good or bad friends do. The 6th dimension is the celestial dimension where heaven and hell are. The 7th dimension is where I counsel with my Son, the Holy Spirit and from time to time, we invite others, to discuss the different needs. The 8th dimension is my cave, my workshop my laboratory from where life originates. Here we develop and realize the plans before they become reality in one of the lower or other dimensions.

As mankind is the magnum-opus and the ultimate masterpiece of our creation, that means the whole plan is to see what they'll do with their freedom of choice. Like a test tube in a laboratory to see what each one is made of in character.

For each life we balance out the positive against the negative to test each heart. Will they love or hate? Will they forgive or demand revenge, do they want peace or war; be kind or kill; give or grab?"

My last thought is, you don't need anybody, as you are omnipresent, you are everywhere. You are omniscient, you know everything; past, present and future. You are omnipotent, you're all powerful.

"True, but I would like to reiterate that I am not what you call on earth a 'One-Man-Band'. I work with councils where people have a say and we put the best ones into practise. Just like our discussion; as there's no time in our dimension we've put your present good advice into practice back then. First in counsel with my Son and Holy Spirit, then with more such as Moses, Elijah, Abraham, Gabriel and others; that's how we made our plan of action. Is it clear?"

Somewhat, but this time-overlap is still fuzzy.

"I received a lot of criticism for asking Abraham to sacrifice his son. He would've gone through with it, if I hadn't stopped him. Seeing his willingness, how could I not be willing to sacrifice my Son? Abraham became my friend because truest friendships come about during heart-rending experiences." (James 2:23)

Thanks for explaining, but I will take a day off to try to absorb all of this. Thank you for taking time.

"I am here for you and believe me, I do love you."

I'm starting to grasp that because of your Son and the depth of his commitment to you and us.

Come now, and let us reason together, says the LORD (Isaiah 1:18)

Okay you want to talk - If I were you, God, I think I'd do things quite differently, I would not allow these wars to go on. I would not allow the slaughter in Gaza. I'd stop all the injustices going on from child abuse to human trafficking. I have a few more things but I will leave it at this. So, God what do you have to say to that? Because living in this world and seeing what is happening around me is depressive to say the least. I believe that you exist, because I have that much common-sense to see that we did not just explode out of a super-atom, that is like saying there was an explosion in a print shop and with time out walks the Encyclopaedia Brittanica.
But what is wrong with you and why do you allow this inhumanity to man just to continue? If you are that smart and can create a world, then why don't you do something about it?

"What do you want me to do? Do you want me to step in now and change things. Everyone will call me a dictator; they would rebel and put up a fight."

I guess you are right they already blame you for all that goes wrong in the world instead of looking at the mistakes and wrong decision that we make.

"Thanks for giving me a break."

Okay, but is there not anything that you can do or do you just stand by and let us slaughter ourselves?
