

Neurons (brain cells): Most neurons in the cerebral cortex are never replaced and last a lifetime.

The human cell:

It has a genome. The genome has a complete set of DNA, which contains around 3.2 billion DNA base pairs. The genome is arranged into 23 pairs of chromosomes estimated to contain 20,000-25,000 genes, which pretty much determine our physical and hereditary make-up.

In 2012 we discovered that the human cell has around 4.000.000 (four million) switches. These are connected to organs and different body parts.

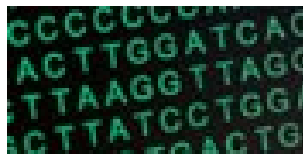

We will look at our DNA in the microscopic human cell, which we cannot see with the naked eye.

Intricate computer programming

Our DNA is similar to the computer programming

‘The US government is able to identify everyone in the country by a nine-digit social security number. Yet, inside every miniscule human cell there is a three-billion-lettered DNA structure that belongs only to you.’ - Taken from the following link:

‘Super-intelligence is the only good explanation for the origin of life and the complexity of nature.’

Looking at the intricate computer program designed over years by computer scientists, then there has to be an intelligent being that designed the human cell.

“Blinding ignorance does mislead us. O, wretched mortals open your eyes.” Leonardo Da Vinci.

DNA/Data storage:

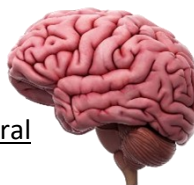

‘The work, carried out at Harvard by George Church and Sri Kosuri, basically treats DNA as just another digital storage device - in a droplet of DNA that fits on the tip of your pinky. To store the same kind of data on hard drives - the densest storage medium in use today - you’d need 233, 3TB drives, weighing 151 kilos - Biological storage allows us to record everything. www.extremetech.com/extreme/134672-harvard-cracks-dna-storage-

The Human Brain:

Neuroscientist Jeff Lichtman lectured at Harvard that if we try to index our 1½ kg human brain we will need several billion petabytes of data storage.

That’s 2,000,000,000,000,000 GB (two quadrillion GB) (1 PetaByte=1000 TeraBytes; 1 terabyte=1000 GigaBytes)

Professor Stephen Hawking, wrote in ‘A Brief History of Time’ ch. 8, The remarkable fact is that the values of these numbers seem to have been very finely adjusted, to make possible the development of life.’

Who or what ‘finely adjusted’ these numbers, as proposed by Prof. Hawking, a confirmed atheist?

Max Planck (Nobel Quantum Physics Scientist) stated that, ‘all matter originates and exists only by virtue of a force that causes atomic particles to vibrate and holds them together. We must assume a conscious and Intelligent Mind exists behind this force, acting as the Matrix of all matter.’

If as detectives we want to find out ‘Who did it?’, we look for fingerprints. We have two kinds of detectives, those who see and those who don’t see.

Those who see, find evidence galore of that Intelligent Mind. Those who don’t see, can’t find a single fingerprint. In order to cover up their incompetence and to not lose their jobs and salaries, they give us complicated reports.

We find words like: Gharialis Curvirostris, Spitiensis, Palaeoloxodon Namadicus, Dittmarites Trailliformis, Plectorthis, Spriferina Stracheyi, Achrochordiceras. And you wonder, ‘What the heck does that mean?’ Well, it’s either some bones or a piece of rock. Then Carbon dating (important to read) suggests years, that are beyond our daily usage, so we think ourselves to be dumb as we don’t understand it. The earth’s age used to be tens of thousands of years, then became millions, followed by 4.5 billion. Now A.I. tells me, ‘The Big Bang is the leading scientific explanation for the origin of the universe. It proposes that about 13.8 billion years ago, the entire universe emerged from an extremely hot, dense singularity.’

Professor Lemaitre from the Uni of Leuven came up with the idea of the ‘Big Bang’ and theorized that it was the explosion of a super-atom. These unproven hypotheses occurred billions of years ago, and we think ‘the scientists know’. Well, they don’t! They say that a particle, smaller than this dot ↓ exploded as the ‘Big Bang’. This is a cornerstone of Atheism and a largely accepted Principle of Modern Science.

My brainless experiment:

The ‘Big Bang’ was extremely hot. Much hotter than boiling water, which sterilizes. We carefully keep a sterilized rock and some hot lava in a safe place for 13.8 billion years, the alleged time since the ‘Big Bang’. Then, do you honestly think, that this rock or lava, will develop into an amoeba or tiny tadpole?

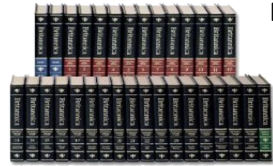

“If you find from your own experience that something is a fact and contradicts what any authority has written down, then you must abandon the authority and base your reasoning on your own findings.” Leonardo da Vinci

A Printshop explosion

If I say that ‘the Encyclopaedia Britannica’ resulted from an explosion in a print shop. How’s my I.Q.? You will tell me to see a psychiatrist; and you should. Remember to index the brain takes 2,000 trillion GB. To index the 32 volumes of Encyclopaedia Britannica takes less than 1 GB. With this in mind, my print-shop explosion theory is 2,000,000,000,000,000 times more probable than the 'Big Bang' explosion.

Besides the fact that these volumes are non-living matter resulting from non-living matter, which is much more credible than living matter evolving from sterilized, non-living matter. Can you see, it is just theories, supported by hypotheses and lies, mounting up to total nonsense. But as we hear it daily on the TV and in the media, we think that it must be so. It is not. It is gobbledegook designed by 'the Elite' to undermine and to destroy faith in this Intelligent Mind and his Word, aka the Bible.

The Tree of Knowledge

'A tree to be desired to make one wise,' (Genesis 3:6)

The desire for education and to show ourselves 'wise', at least smarter than God and his Word, is stronger today than it has ever been. If that is what we learn from the present-day tree of knowledge, it's time to get the axe out and chop it down, as our common sense is being messed about. Can you see how, in the 'religion of Atheism' we're willing to insult our brain, as long as it has nothing to do with God?

If I ask my children, 'How did this happen?' and they answer me, 'Oh, dad, it just happened', then I know that they are avoiding the truth.

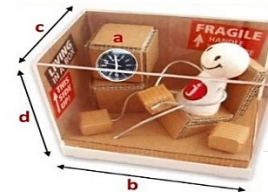

Nascimento said, 'Rebellion is not what most people think it is. Rebellion is when you turn off your TV and start educating yourself.

Einstein: 'What separates me from most so-called atheists is a feeling of utter humility towards the unattainable secrets of the harmony of the cosmos.' He also said, 'It is what we think we know that keeps us from learning' and 'Question Everything!'

The list of Creation Scientists is ever growing.

Anthony Hopkins said that, "Being an atheist must be like living in a closed cell with no window."

That cell with no window is that closed box again; we can't look out, but others can look in.

To grasp what the out-of-the-boxers try to tell us is not easy for us as BOX-heads.

In Genesis 2:7 says 'God created man from the dust of the ground and breathed into his nostril the breath of life and man became a living soul.' That breath of life, our living soul, is from a much higher dimension, longing for love and celestial peace. I felt that frustration of, 'What is truth, what am I doing here? If God exists and is supposedly love, then why disasters and the mess we're in?'

I was much like a bird in a cage, that wanted to break out and fly away. My soul desired truth, but was being fed lies. My soul shrivelled in a web of disbelief. Was I the only one that felt like this? My false slave mentality and frustration ended, when my cage was opened. I read the Words of this Intelligent Mind and learned to fly. My fear of death melted away; I had life eternal; I was free; I changed my behaviour to set my compass for the long haul of eternity.

Jesus holds the universal master-key to open any cage, no matter how complicated the lock; ask him to open yours and fly...fly...fly... You'll never regret it.

Rationality inside our BOX equals Atheism

We all live in our box of four dimensions: Time, Length, Width and Height. This is what we see and are limited to. Anyone claiming there is more outside of our box is a crackpot, because if I can't see, feel, or touch it, then it is not real. We are down-to-earth, pragmatic people, and with rational reasoning we have concluded explanations and theories within those four-dimensional parameters. However, one super frustrating thing for us is trying to find out where life originated, because even if all the scientists are brought together, we still would not be able to create one single blade of grass with procreative life.

We can create advanced, high-tech robots by copying the human body, yet our body is still the most amazing complex, procreative, living machine walking this earth. Let's take a closer look:

The human body:

We consist of 28 to 38 trillion cells (a guesstimate, as no one knows exactly) all working together; rotating and being replaced:

Gut lining: Replaced every 4 to 5 days.

Skin cells: Replaced roughly every 2 to 4 weeks.

Red blood cells: Last about 120 days (4 months).

Liver cells: Renew over 6 to 16 months.

Fat cells: Replaced and renewed about every 8 years.

Bones: Fully remodel and renew over roughly 10 years.
